

Tuesday 10th October 2017

LO: To describe and use a variety of sentence styles to describe a setting.

On the very edge of the vast, mountainous island of Briar's Rock rested an ancient, tall, proud lighthouse that's shadowed over the light, lit up all of the island below. The lighthouse, whose body towered over the dark and dangerous seas, stood with pride. As the vicious and giracious seas crashed against the islands cliffs, the clouds that covered the full moon of the night created the oceans reflections to be as dark as the death of the night. The light of the lighthouse ripped through the island's night darkness to create a illuminous sight that was as wide as the sky above, it was clear to see that the light* was no match for the brightness^{darkness} of the night's night.

In the small village of Briar's Rock the trees that surrounded the many houses was ~~en~~ enclosed by the dead-like, ~~or~~ amber leaves that looked as if they had no life left. The trees above it they ~~st~~ plunged left and right with the cold roots breaking out of the grass. The quaint houses of the island stood quako on the dark grass, wet, soggy grass, the house's lights from distance made the picture of small fire flies, dancing in

Friday 13th October

Spooky setting

Ding! Ding! Ding!... Mysteriously, the little pocket watch on the rotten wooden table was echoing around the down ground floor in the 4 floor mansion. Dangerously, the precarious walls are on the verge of cracking and falling causing an avalanche of debris for a mile! Up the stairs, the carpet begs to get cleaned as it is covered in dust and cobwebs. Disgustingly, the grandfather clock is infested with woodlice and rat poo is surrounding the base. Who would leave it like that? Beautifully, the moonlit rooms are decorated with wonderful wallpaper and luxurious beds - but there ^{are} skeletons in there! Also, the toilets are revolting as they have feces wee and poo everywhere and there is a zombie hand in the sink. Noisily, the floor is as squeaky as a squeaky dog ball when it is bitten. Annoyingly, the cacophony of screaming and shouting raucously travelled around the house. Ropes as thin as paper hang on the ceilings and walls, simultaneously monstrous, bright red

Aghouls float around. Down the back of the comfortable sofa ~~are~~ there ^{is} lots of mould and a ^{carcass} carcass of a cat. An antique lampshade stood over the grotesque coffin that held a dracula!

Writing feedback

General feedback

Well done Bobby. This is a great piece of descriptive writing. I can tell you have thought really carefully about the language you have used to bring your writing to life. Your spelling, punctuation and handwriting are all excellent too. (1 Hp)

Follow up activity

Write three new sentences - one which has a simile in, one with a metaphor and one which uses personification.

Follow up activity:

Grotesquely, if anyone wanted to go through ~~to~~ the house they ^{have} ~~used~~ to go through a gate covered in blood as sticky as ^{glue} ~~or slime~~.
Glowing through the windows the beautiful moon is a supersize cheese ball.

Noisily, the old trees cried to be moved to a ^{new home}.